FATHER MALONE TALKS OF THE LATEST PHASE OF THE MIGLYNN CON-TROVERSY.

AND ARCHHISHOP CORRIGAN- * THE FAILURE TO GIVE DR.

M'GLYNN A PARISH.

"If I step down out of my pulpit after preaching Christian charity, meekness and brotherly love and walk over to the Brooklyn Tabernacie, as I did on Thursday evening, to signify by my presence the regard which I entertain for the Rev. Dr. Talmage, a Protestant minister and one of the most prominent of my fellow-citizens, does that mean that I am going to become a Protestant? As well might it be said, because Dr. Talmage visited me and wrote me a letter of congratulation on the fiftieth anniversary of my ordination as a priest, that he was going to become a Catholic. "It is a poor thing, indeed, if a church cannot thrive and preserve its doctrines unless by looking with suspicion upon all others professing a different religion and refusing to associate with them.

This is what the Rev. Sylvester Malone, of Brooklyn, said when asked yesterday what he had to say regarding the latest phase of the McGlynn-Burtsell-Corrigan-Satolli controversy. Father Malone was elected recently by the Legislature to the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New-York after a struggle in which the old controversy between the conservative and the progressive elements in the Catholic Church was revived.

The news comes now by way of Lo form of an interview in "The Tablet," of that city, which is the official organ of the Catholic Church in England, that this election of Father Majone has been a powerful means of stirring up anew the old quarrel which threatens, like the apparitions in the play, to "stretch out till the crack o' doom." Then comes a statement about the Pope having ordered the Rev. Dr. McGiynn to "withdraw from New-York and its vicinity, and to remain in quietude"; a statement that the ex-pastor of St. Stephen's dis and a series of other assertions in the same line, all of which were denied seriatim in an interview from Washington published in The Tribune yesterday with the Papal Delegate.

Who do you suppose is at the bottom of these statements that come from London?" Father Malone was asked. A GUESS AS TO THE AUTHOR.

The venerable priest thought for a moment, and then answered, deliberately: "It would not in the least surprise me to be told that the author of that Cardinal Archbishop of Westminster. He was here, you know, a few months ago on his way back to London, and staved with Archbishop Corrigan, where he had an excellent opportunity of learning the views of the leader on that side of this painful and protracted controversy. It is altogether an ex-parte statement. I met Father Vaughan myself when he was here, and found him tractable and reasonable in discussing this topic, but no sooner had he come within the sphere of Archiepiscopal nce than he changed, and the result is seen in the partisan and untruthful statement in 'The Tablet'-if it was he who wrote it. I think it lement in the controversy should be imported from source 2,000 miles away, where nothing whatever s known of our laws, our institutions or our ways Table were, in substance, correct, and I see further in The Tribune of to-day that Monsignor further in The Tribune of to-day that Monsignor facilities are the substance of the WHO IS TELLING A LIE?

"Now, somebody is telling a lie. Who is it? The hbishop must surely know that the American people are an intelligent people, and capable of praceful that this intriguing should be kept up any nger? It is doing a vast amount of harm, which tht have been put an end to once for all when ignor Satolli restored Dr. McGlynn to the mesting Satolli restored Dr. McGlynn to the mistration and assigning him, if not to St. Stehans, at least to some other parish under his burisdiction and assigning him, if not to St. Stehans, at least to some other parish under his burisdiction equally as good."

"My doesn't Monsignor Satolli do that?"

"I do not know but I am at liberty to form my control of the legated that work, as you might say, to the Archbishop, and, the standard and the some less and who it is the doesn't want to. He delegated that work, as you might say, to the Archbishop, and, the archbishop leaving it undone, every fair-minded man can see where the blame lies and who it is that keeps this question an open sore.

"Imagine the absurdity of the statement that the Hoy Father had 'ordered' Dr. McGlynn to leave New York! Why, if that were true it would be a reasonable enough excuse for the formation of a dosenbanches of the American Protective Association where only one now exists. The statement is absurd, inasmuch, mind you, as the action would be taken, not because Dr. McGlynn had broken any law of the Church, but because he had discussed some subjects from a certain point of view. Now, accoming to Monsignor Satolli, Dr. McGlynn's views on these matters were submitted by him 'to four doctors of divinity,' and it was acknowledged that 'nothing he did or said was opposed to the Catholic Action. This talk in this country by men high is eccessastical authority of 'ordering' men to of certain things, especially when these things do not one within their jurisdiction, is un-American, and if I were an archbishop to-morrow, while I might politicly make requests in such matters, I cartainy should not 'order.'

ber when, after the war, I rode in a carriage with a minister of the Dutch Reformed Church and a Unitarian clergyman I was spoken of as having abandoned the cross, and when I laid the flag of the Union beside the cross at the grave of a soldier I was said to be fast verging toward paganism. All these things I remember well, and all these curious feelings I have lived to see to a large extent dissipated. It is useless to judge this country by European standards, and to apply the same methods of ecclesiastical government as those which prevail there. It will no more succeed than did the same methods of civil government which it was attempted to force upon us succeed during the last century. As to the flights of rhetoric with which Dr. McGlynn has been charged from time to time previous to his restoration—such, for example, as referring to the Pope as a bag of bones—which he denies ever having satd—and talking about an American Pope walking down Broadway in a stovepipe hat—how in the world could such utterances, assuming that he did make them, be construed into acts of disrespect, much less of high treason or rebellion to the soversign Pontiff. He spoke of the Pope as a man merely, sharing those frailtes and weaknesses which are human, though perhaps, in a less degree than other men. What was there so startling in that—if, as I said before, Dr.

should say that I think in decency 'The London Tablet' should mind its own business, and that those high dignitaries in New-York who are making it a catspaw in this matter should, in all conscience, stop further intriguing."
When the interview with Mossignor Satolli was shown to Archishop Corrigan yesterday he declined to read it, and would not express any opinion. For further information the reporter was referred to his private secretary. Father Connolity, but Father Connolly, it was found, was in Yonkers,
and not likely to be home that evening.

DECISION AGAINST J. K. EMMET.

J. K. Emmet's application to Surrogate Fitzgerald wife, Daisy Way Emmet, to compel him to give an accounting of his trust as executor of the estate of accounting of his trust as executor of the estate of his father, was denied yesterday, and the stay of proceedings granted meantime has been vacated.

The referee appointed to examine into the accounts of the actor as executor will now go on with the hearings. Mrs. Emmet says that she is entitled to one-half of the estate of her father-in-law, under his will, and declares that her husband has not paid her any part of the estate, although he has received thousands of dollars. She is also suing him for an absolute divorce.

NEW MEMBERS OF THE STOCK EXCHANGE. Three new members of the Stock Exchange were elected yesterday-J. R. Willitson, John B. Van Schaick and Herbert T. B. Jacquelin. They went Schaick and Herbert T. B. Jacquelin. They went on the floor of the Exchange, and not a hat was knocked off nor a collar disarranged, James Mitchell, the chairman, stood Argus-eyed, ready to execute the recent emphatic instructions of the Governing Committee against "hazing." It is not known whether, if the new members had intended to be-come "arbitrageurs," there would have been any auspension of the rules to permit the distribution of bran balls and cyanide of potassium.

Pittsfield, Mass., May 12.-The New-Lebanon (N. Y.) incendiary is still at work, and people there are greatly wrought up over his operations. Thursday night a new barn, owned by Patrick Cashman, was burned with its contents, the loss being $1.00. Last night Dr. Bates's barn near-by was discovered to be on fire, but was saved ov prompt work. The people are at a loss to account for the repeated incendiary fires, and are afraid to go to sleep with-out placing a watch on their property. The incen-diary has established a verifable reign of terror in the town, and a Vigilance Committee is to be organ-ized.

MANY FORGED WELLS-FARGO MONEY ORDERS. Boston, May 12.-Considerable excitement was yesterday by the presentation of no less than recognized as forgeries. Some were sent in from country banks for collection, and a number were presented by lawyers and bank officers of Boston and suburban towns. Each order purported to be signed by Anson Gorton, an official of the company in Chicago.

An alleged firm of lawyers in St. Louis have sent An alleged firm of lawyers in St. Louis have sent out a letter, together with inclosures, consisting of a self-addressed envelope, and a draft on the Wells-Fargo Express Company, in which the usual request for collection and remittance is made, 10 per cent being offered for collection. These letters have been sent to country savings banks, lawyers and banks outside of the large cities, and were all sent from St. Louis under date of May 8, while the money orders are dated April 19, and have the appearance of having been issued in Chicago.

Tacoma, Wash., May 12.-W. F. Reynolds, a Chicago real estate man, yesterday placed the State Savings Bank, in this city, in the hands of a receiver on the ground that it was insolvent. Reynolds was made president of the bank ninety days ago, upon purchasing some of the stock. He had the books examined, and thus discovered the condition of the bank. The Lombard Investment Company, of Boston, was interested in the bank. The etty has $89,982 deposited in the institution. The total deposits are $101,049.99. The total assets are not known accurately, but the officers declare that they greatly exceed the liabilities. The bank is carrying more than $156,000 worth of paper.

ELEVATOR'S BUILDERS SUED BY THE OWNERS. Buffalo, May 12.-The proprietors of the Eastern Elevator have begun a big suit against James and Alexander Stewart, composing the firm of James Stewart & Co., bridge and elevator builders, of St. Louis, for non-fulfilment of contract. It is alleged that the contractors did not complete their work on the immense new elevator of plaintiffs within the specified time, and that the latter were greatly dam-aged in consequence by not being able to secure a high rating for the present season from the Eleva-tor Association. Defects in the work are also al-leged. The suit is nominally for $73,500, but $24,000 is still due the Stewarts on the contract.
